Players are now able to customize their formations, tactics, team and players to suit their own unique playing style and are able to adjust individual player attributes such as skill, strength and speed. For example, the challenge defender is the only defender in FIFA 22 that possesses the ability to intercept passes and "sneak up on" opposing attackers. "The iconic feeling of simulation on and off the pitch will bring a whole new level of realism" says Producer Christian Seifert. "FIFA is the most trusted football simulation and has been setting the standard for more than three decades. The innovations and unique features of FIFA 22 will allow players to immerse themselves in the game." Intuitive Player Positioning System In FIFA 22, you have the choice of playing the game as a defender or an attacker. The way you play the game, and how you position players on the pitch, is completely up to you. This makes the game even more intuitive and will no doubt appeal to a wider audience, as well as introduce a new dimension to the game. With FUT-mode, Positioning System and Match Day Team Tactics, you can choose how to deploy your tactics in real-time. In FUT-mode, the system allows you to create a high-intensity pass-oriented team while playing in ranked matches or a low-energy defensive formation in unranked matches. This new and improved Positioning System will open up a lot of new tactical options to enhance your footballing experience. Match Day Team Tactics can also be used in-game when you're in Career Mode. With the help of new Decision Making and Skill Sliders tools, you can fine-tune each team's tactics, formations and personnel to create a genuine, tactically intelligent team. "Working with FIFA's leading partners, like Adidas, allows us to create the best-looking visuals and new cutting-edge gameplay for FIFA. The improvements that we've made to our physics engine are now even more integrated in the gameplay, which means you'll feel the game more connected to the real world than ever before," says Seifert. In FUT Champions, every player on the pitch is now powered by a new "Soul Gauge". When a player receives a pass, touches the ball or plays a skill, his or her Soul Gauge will decrease, making players more susceptible to being caught off-guard by an
