I want that my browser go to not I used (in bash): /etc/init.d/apache2 force-reload I also configured a site in /etc/apache2/sites-available I moved my.conf file to /etc/apache2/sites-enabled I tried it. I rebooted and I was on the correct url I restarted the apache2 A: Did you set up a VHOST in your /etc/apache2/sites-enabled directory? If yes, see this question: The Day I Became A First Time Mom I've always wanted to be a mom. I just never was. But I did say I wanted to have a family before starting The Good Wife. At the very end of our third season, I got pregnant with my first child. I was trying to juggle The Good Wife with moving with my husband to New York, but I went through a miscarriage. My doctor told me that I'd maybe never conceive again. I was in shock, and I wasn't ready to have a baby after a miscarriage. Advertisement - Continue Reading Below I told [showrunner] Robert [King] I just wasn't ready to be a mother, so we agreed it would be best for me to move to New York. I wasn't willing to have a kid who'd never have a mother, so I left The Good Wife. I'm having a baby with my husband. My first — his first — child. And I'm having a difficult pregnancy. I'm in the midst of a miscarriage, and I just found out this morning that I have gestational diabetes. I was at [my doctor] (in Los Angeles) because he thinks I'm at risk. We're not having a c-section, and I'm in Los Angeles, so I'll go to [my doctor] (in New York) to do an amnio. My mom and
