Read all Reviews »Q: How can I create a formatting string for json object from a string I'm trying to write a function that takes a string and returns a string with the same formatting as that string. For example, let's say I have an object with a value of 1234: `var myObj = { value: "1234" }`; And I have a string that I wish to format as myObj: `var myString = '{"value": "1234"}'`; Ideally, the function would return this string: `{'value': '1234'}` I tried a few approaches to making this function but none of them quite worked. Here is what I have come up with so far: `const formatToJsonObject = (value, name = 'value') => { const jsonObj = {}; for (const key in value) { jsonObj[key] = value[key]; } return jsonObj; }` This returns an object like this: `{ "1234": { "value": "1234" } }` What I'd like to know is if there is a way to write this function so that it returns the string I'm after: `{'value': '1234'}` A: You could map the object and string with `Object.entries`, map the key-value-pairs and join the map with `a`, 77a5ca646e
